6th Sunday in Ordinary Time

In today's gospel (Mk 1:40-45) a leper boldly enters the town to plead with Jesus to make him clean. In those days there was no cure for leprosy, so they were isolated outside the camp for the protection of the community. Despite this separation, word of Jesus' ministry of authority accompanied by miracles has reached him. The leper kneels in front of Jesus and expresses his faith in him: "If you wish, you can make me clean." Moved with compassion, Jesus responds: "I do will it. Be made clean." Immediately the leprosy left him! Jesus orders the leper to "See that you tell no one anything but show yourself to the priest." The cleansed leper is told to offer what Moses directed (two clean birds) for his cleansing as proof for priests. (Lev. 14:4). However, he is so excited about this miracle he spreads the report abroad making it impossible for Jesus to enter a town openly. People kept coming to Jesus from everywhere. Ironically, the former leper has returned to society and Jesus is forced into "deserted places" outside of every town.

Just as leprosy had no cure until Jesus came, sin had no cure until Jesus redeemed us on the cross. As lepers were isolated outside the camp, remaining in sin keeps us out of God's kingdom and of heaven. As much compassion as Jesus showed the leper by touching him and making him whole, we are shown more. God and Jesus generously supplied our need to be restored to God without our even asking. They have shown us an unfathomable love (agape) that is so foreign to human reasoning without grace we would be unable to accept it. For this reason, we should never fear coming to Jesus for cleansing through the Sacrament of Reconciliation. For it is His will that all be saved (1 Tim. 2:4). Then go and tell all that will listen, what Jesus has done for you. Let us kneel before Jesus and offer for our cleansing a life of thanksgiving and service for a debt that can never be paid. Will you return His love with all your heart, all your soul, all your mind, and all your strength?
